Proposal

Every year, the Levitt Pavilion Pasadena, a non-profit organization, provides fifty free music concerts during the summer at night in Pasadena's Memorial Park. They invite artists/bands of all music genres to perform. Their mission is to provide an evening of great music, beautiful weather, and friendly atmosphere to people of all ages and backgrounds.

I chose the Levitt Pavilion because they provide the unique service of providing free concerts. I think that creating an advertising campaign on them would be an interesting challenge because they provide a service, instead of a product.

I am doing an advertising campaign for the Levitt Pavilion to promote their organization. My advertising campaign will promote their service by using images of music notes, as well as stars for a night theme. For example, I created the tagline, "Fifty nights of free music," to promote their organization's services in a straightforward manner. Also, the logo contains music notes made of stars and the magazine ad is a picture of music bars with the concert stage in the background. The billboard is a simpler version of the magazine ad because people have a short amount of time to look at a billboard. The website uses the billboard image for the background, with the rest of the website content placed on top within two opaque rectangles to give a simplistic look. Finally, my promotional item will be a sticker because stickers can be placed in various places and stickers can effectively create more awareness for the organization at a low cost.
